

There is a new future for the North and it's called opportunity.

The University of Alaska provides opportunity for Alaskans to foster the independence and innovation that is core to who we are as a people and as a state. A resilient Alaska with a diverse and educated workforce provides multiple paths to the future and opportunities for families and communities to thrive.

Through knowledge we create possibility. Through exploration we feed curiosity. Through discovery we fuel transformation. Knowledge equips all Alaskans to build a future that is innovative, adaptive, enriched, and uniquely ours.
